Wesleyan Launches $8.8 Million Campaign for Advancement

At the Annual Meeting of the Wesleyan Alumnae Association held Saturday, April 20, 1985, the official opening of Wesleyan's three year $8.8 million capital campaign - the Campaign for Advancement - was announced by the national campaign chairman, Randolph W. Thrower of Atlanta.

Mr. Thrower said the Campaign for Advancement - the largest single fundraising effort ever undertaken by Wesleyan - has already received $3,333,905 in early pledges from trustees, alumnae and friends of the College. The previous campaign, conducted in two phases between 1969 and 1975, brought over six million dollars in gifts to the College.

Wesleyan President Robert K. Ackerman pointed out that during the past 150 years Wesleyan had laid a solid foundation for effective education. He said, "The Wesleyan College Campaign for Advancement will provide the support we need to continue striving for that extra measure of excellence which so characterizes this College.

"It will take the courage and enthusiasm of all Wesleyan's alumnae and friends to make the Campaign for Advancement a complete success. We need your support, and we are confident that you will help," he said.

In 1983, Wesleyan's Trustees, faculty, alumnae, administrators and friends joined together to prepare a comprehensive study of the state of the College and project plans for years to come. This self-study document was the beginning of the Wesleyan Campaign for Advancement, designed to meet the College's most urgent needs and provide the springboard for continuing growth and progress.

THE WESLEYAN COLLEGE CAMPAIGN FOR ADVANCEMENT..... $ 8,800,000

I. Endowment

The Campaign's primary need is to increase the College endowment by $3,500,000. Income from the endowment will be used for salary enhancement, professional and curriculum development, library budget support and an increased financial aid base.

The Campaign will secure $2 million for the endowment of salaries for faculty, administration and staff. At Wesleyan as in the nation as a whole, compensation has lost ground relative to non-academic opportunities. The income from the additional $2 million in endowment funds ultimately will permit Wesleyan salaries to match median salaries at comparable colleges.

Institutional support will be provided for curriculum and professional development, which currently are funded by available current operating income. In 1984-85, only $21,000 was available for advanced study, conference fees, travel and curriculum development. The income from endowment funds of $500,000 will enable college personnel to attend professional conferences, engage in research and develop new courses and internship programs, thereby keeping pace with current developments in their fields of expertise.

The campaign will further secure endowment funds of $250,000 to support the annual budget of the Lucy Lester Willet Memorial Library. The heart of learning at Wesleyan, the library must meet continually increasing demands for information. Improvements will include the provision of computerized reference sources, revision of collections to reflect academic changes, an increased acquisitions budget and professional development for personnel.

Over the past four years, the number of students applying for financial aid has outdistanced the total financial aid budget even though it has risen steadily. Therefore, to ensure Wesleyan's traditional cultural diversity, the campaign will supplement endowed scholarships and financial aid by $750,000.

II. The Physical Plant

The second major area of need identified by the Trustees is improvements to the physical plant. The first of these is the Taylor Hall for Science and Mathematics. Named for Robert Jenks Taylor, leading benefactor, Taylor Hall never has had a major renovation since it was built in 1928. As 74 percent of all current Wesleyan students have at least one class a day in the building, it has become imperative not only to renovate it physically, but also to provide modern equipment and functional laboratory space for these students. The Campaign will secure $2,800,000 for these purposes.

Renovations of other buildings also are planned. The campaign has earmarked $335,000 for sprinkler systems in four residence halls and air conditioning in the C. Baxter and Carolyn Cater Jones Residence Hall. Air conditioning in Jones Residence Hall is a first step in the eventual air conditioning of all other living quarters except The Julian and Grace Hightower Residence Hall, which already is air conditioned.

Air conditioning is needed in the Art Building as well. Constructed in 1964, the building also needs structural repair and improvements to the surrounding area. The campaign will provide $55,000 for these purposes.

The James Hyde Porter Gymnasium, partially renovated in 1975, now needs proper locker room ventilation, new safety equipment for the pool area, newly refinished gymnasium floors and roof repairs. The campaign will provide $110,000 to renovate the gymnasium as a center for physical fitness.

The reinstated equestrian program requires renovation of the existing stables, the construction of an outdoor show ring and the clearance of existing bridle paths. Fifty thousand dollars will be allocated for these purposes.

III. The Annual Fund

As part of the total fund raising plan, the Campaign for Advancement will provide $2,500,000 in annual funds.

During the past five fiscal years, the College's operating costs have increased by 35.8 percent. As funding provided by sustained giving to the Annual Fund and Loyalty Fund is crucial to balancing the College's operating budget, it is imperative that this giving be maintained, even as additional support is pledged to other portions of the campaign.

Marts and Lundy, Inc., of Lyndhurst, New Jersey, is serving as the consulting firm for the campaign, which is being coordinated through Wesleyan's Office of Institutional Advancement.

Many volunteers already have begun working on the campaign's preliminary phases. They include Campaign Chairman Thrower, who is an attorney-at-law with the Atlanta firm of Sutherland, Asbill and Brennan, and, for 22 years, a Wesleyan Trustee and a former chairman of the board; Frank C. Jones of Atlanta, chairman of the Wesleyan College Board of Trustees; and the chairpersons and members of campaign committees.

Members of the Campaign Steering Committee which is chaired by John F. Rogers, Jr. of Macon, are: Laura Sullivan Barkley '68; Lovick P. Corn; Dr. William F. Cummings; Frank C. Jones; Valeria McCullough Murphey '48; Randolph W. Thrower; H. Dillon Winship, Jr.; Dr. Robert K. Ackerman, ex-officio and Rose Mary McKelvey '77, ex-officio.

The Leadership Gifts Committee, chaired by Lovick P. Corn of Columbus, is comprised of Valeria McCullough Murphey '48, vice-chairman; Dr. William F. Cummings; W. Tinsley Ellis, Jr.; Judy Woodward Gregory '63; Elsie Lowden Hambright '34; Frank C. Jones; Linda Lane; William S. Manning; J. Alan Neal; John F. Rogers, Jr.; Randolph W. Thrower; H. Dillon Winship, Jr. and Charles H. Yates, Jr.

The Trustee Solicitation Committee, chaired by Frank C. Jones, is comprised of Dr. Ralph B. Huston; Robert E. Knox, Jr.; Edward S. Sell, Jr.; Charles H. Yates, Jr. and Robert M. Young.

Members of the Macon area campaign committee, chaired by Linda Lane, are Eleanor Adams Lane '58, Sandra Bell Shipp, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Swann (Martha Bradford Swann '47.)

Kickoff events will be held this fall in Macon, to be followed later by other area campaigns in major Georgia cities.

Concluding his announcement, Chairman Thrower said he knew from past experience that Wesleyan's alumnae would give their all to make the campaign a success. "Together," he said, "we can ensure that 1986, our one hundred-and-fiftieth anniversary, will represent the launching of new and greater programs for Wesleyan."

Wesleyan to Celebrate 150th Anniversary

In just a few short months Wesleyan - the oldest chartered women's college in the world - will reach its 150th anniversary. January 1, 1986, will mark the beginning of a year of Sesquicentennial celebration for which the Wesleyan community has been preparing for almost two years.

Choosing "Women of Achievement" as the anniversary's theme, the Sesquicentennial Committee, chaired by dean of students Mary Pate Hatfield '48, has planned programs and special events featuring women who have made outstanding contributions in many fields of endeavor.

Events throughout the 1986 calendar year will include a program by former First Lady Rosalyn Carter; actress Bettye Jaffe's performance of "An Evening with Edna St. Vincent Millay" on January 9; and, on April 2, 3 and 4, a cooking school conducted by alumna Jo Patterson Bettoja '47, who operates Lo Scaldavivande Cooking School in Rome, Italy. Bishop Marjorie Matthews, the first woman Bishop of the United Methodist Church, has accepted an invitation to be the Belk Lecturer in October, 1986. An art exhibit, numerous speakers and special concerts also are planned.

Members of the Sesquicentennial Committee are: President Robert Ackerman, Jill Bigler, Dean Mary Hatfield, Linda Lane, George McKinney, Ann Munck '38, Dean Kayron McMinn, Sylvia Ross, Sandi Bell Shipp '66, Frances Bruce Van Horn '53, Dr. J. Frederick Wilson and Corawayne Wright. With the retirement of Dean Hatfield June 30, Eleanor Adams Lane '58 became chairperson of the committee.

Further details about Sesquicentennial events will be forthcoming this fall.

Jo Patterson Bettoja: from Millen, GA to Rome, Italy

Alumna Jo Patterson Bettoja, BFA '47, has been teaching aristocratic Italian women to cook for 23 years. In fact, she told Atlanta Journal-Constitution food editor Ann Byrn Phillips that she was the first person to teach the Italians that they could cook ahead of time.

Jo, who is the author of "Italian Cooking in the Grand Tradition," learned to cook from her Italian husband, Angelo. Lo Scaldavivande, the name of her Italian Cooking School, means "dish and cover." The Italians used to cover food to keep it warm because the kitchen was so far from the dining room, according to Jo.

A native of Millen, GA, Jo resides with her family in Rome.

The Bettojas also own a 200-year-old country estate and real working farm north of Rome, where much of the family's food is raised.

In her January 24, 1985, article on Jo's cooking school, editor Byrn described many of its mouth-watering specialties, including brioche; polpettone, a Sicilian meatloaf; and Budino Della Festa, a festive cake made partially of ricotta cheese, semisweet chocolate and pine nuts.

Jo will conduct her cooking school at Wesleyan April 2 to 4. The one-and-a-half hour sessions will be held in the Anderson Dining Hall. Additional details will be forthcoming this fall.

Wesleyan Trustees Elected

The Wesleyan College Board of Trustees, meeting in their regular May session at the College, has elected six new Trustees. They are John Michael Palms of Atlanta; Bartow Randolph Snooks of Ailey, GA; Thomas E. Sandefur, Jr. of Louisville, KY; William C. (Bill) Jones of Macon; Carole Collner Marotti of Winter Haven, FL; and Anne Hyer Smith of Stone Mountain, GA.

Dr. Palms, who is vice president for academic affairs and professor of physics at Emory University, received the B.S. degree from the Citadel, the M.S. degree from Emory and the Ph.D. degree from the University of New Mexico. Listed in Who's Who in America and Who's Who in Science, Dr. Palms is a member of major scientific panels, committees and councils including several dealing with public health and environmental monitoring at Three Mile Island, Pennsylvania.

Widely known for his research in atomic and nuclear physics, Dr. Palms has served as consultant to some of the largest laboratories, scientific establishments and corporations in the U.S. He has received numerous grants and contracts for scientific projects.

Bartow Snooks is president and chief executive officer of Vidalia Naval Stores, Inc., which includes Choo-Choo Supply Co. with locations in five Georgia cities. Other subsidiaries of Vidalia Naval Stores include the trucking company, Choo-Choo Express; Bestline Sash and Door Co. and Wholesale Building Products Company. Mr. Snooks is director of the Montgomery County Bank and former Mayor and City Councilman of Ailey. He also has chaired every major charity fund drive in Montgomery County. His wife, Jean Cone Snooks, received the B.F.A. degree from Wesleyan in 1945. Others in the family who have attended Wesleyan have included his daughter, Betty Cone Snooks Moses, '75 and three sisters: Helen Snooks Collins, '35, Margaret Snooks Clodfelter, '37, and Katherine Snooks Walker, B.S. '33.

Thomas Sandefur, a graduate of Georgia Southern College, joined Brown and Williamson, the nation's third-largest tobacco manufacturing company, as senior vice president for international marketing in 1982. In January, 1984, he became executive vice-president and on January 1, 1985, was named president and chief operating officer of the company. Prior to joining Brown and Williamson, Mr. Sandefur, 45, was executive vice-president, Europe, for the R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Company where for 18 years he held marketing and administrative positions. He is a resident of Louisville, Ky.

Four Outstanding Alumnae Cited for Achievement, Service

Alumnae award recipients honored April 20 at the Annual Meeting are (l. to r.) Jane McGrath '72, Ann Perkins Gibbs '72, Dorothy Tinsley Dailey '35 and Katherine Jordan Stewart '35.

At the annual meeting of the Wesleyan Alumnae Association, held Saturday April 20, 1985, four alumnae were cited for their outstanding contributions to Wesleyan, the United Methodist Church and their professions.

Katherine Jordan Stewart of Macon received the award for distinguished service to Wesleyan College; Dorothy Tinsley Dailey of Austin, Texas, was given the award for distinguished service to the Methodist Church; Ann Perkins Gibbs of Cordova, Tennessee and Jane McGrath of the University of Oklahoma in Norman received awards for their distinguished achievements in the music profession.

Katherine Jordan Stewart AB '35, has traveled over the State recruiting students for Wesleyan and was second vice-president of National Alumnae Association from 1958-61. A student of landscaping at the University of Georgia, Mrs. Stewart has been on the Macon Beautification Committee since its founding and also is a landscape appraiser for the state. She and her husband adopted as a project the Wesleyan Loggia Garden and have continued to maintain it. Mrs. Stewart is from a family devoted to Methodism. After the death of her father, the owner of Singing Pines Plantation, she took over his operations and earned a citation for growing more corn and cotton than anyone in Georgia.

Dorothy Tinsley Daily received the AB degree in 1935. She and her husband spent 16 years as missionaries in Cuba, after which they worked with Puerto Ricans and other Spanish speaking people in New York City while serving on the staff of the Church of All Nations. In Santo Domingo, their next assignment, Dorothy Daily was evacuated following the fall of Trujillo in the revolution. Since their return to the United States and a pastoral assignment in Austin, Mrs. Daily has participated in both local and conference level activities of the United Methodist Church and is on the boards of Church World Service and Church Women United. She has instituted, among other church activities, a "crop walk" to provide food for the Austin poor and African famine relief.

Ann Perkins Gibbs, who received the B.S. degree cum laude in 1972, began her singing career as a student of Professor Norman McLean. She also studied with the late Judith Raskin, Metropolitan Opera star, who, while performing at Wesleyan, recognized Mrs. Gibbs's talent. Mrs. Gibbs's operatic career has included performances with the New Mexico and Santa Fe Symphonies, the St. Louis Opera and the Houston Grand Opera. She won the "Opera America" competition in 1978 and was a finalist in the Metropolitan Opera's regional auditions in 1979. Married to Metropolitan tenor Raymond Gibbs, she has sung throughout the United States in both individual performances and joint appearances with her husband.

Jane McGrath, a 1972 graduate magna cum laude, received many major awards at Wesleyan. She won the concerto contest at the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill and was the first person to receive the Doctor of Music in piano: performance/pedagogy from Northwestern University. As a faculty member at the University of Oklahoma, she has conducted many workshops and master classes and is a contest adjudicator and clinician. She is an active member of many national music associations and was chosen to receive a University of Oklahoma Associates Distinguished Lectureship Award for 1984-85.

A 1951 Georgia Tech graduate, Bill Jones joined Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith in 1961 as account executive. After completing the management training course in New York, he became manager of the Macon office. He now is a resident vice-president of the corporation with responsibility for its Macon, Columbus and Albany offices. Mr. Jones has held various positions with the Greater Macon Chamber of Commerce, the Central Georgia Boy Scout Council, the United Way, the Macon-Bibb County Planning and Zoning Authority and others. A member of the Wesleyan College Board of Associates, he also is a board member of the Georgia Security Dealers Association and the International Association of Financial Planners, Macon chapter. Prior to joining Merrill Lynch, Mr. Jones was an artillery officer with the U.S. Army in Korea and worked for eight years with a Pennsylvania manufacturer of steel pipe.

Mrs. Marotti, a 1961 graduate of Westminster Choir College in Princeton, NJ, currently is active with the Winter Haven Community Theatre. In 1978-79 she was named best supporting actress and in 1979-80, best actress in a featured role. A member of the Fine Arts Council of Polk Community College, Mrs. Marotti also has held executive positions with the Ridge Art Association. She is a professional floral designer and instructor and advisor for the Winter Haven Garden Club. Her daughters, Cara and Mia, are Wesleyan students.

Anne Hyer Smith received the A.B. degree from Wesleyan in 1942 and the LL.B. degree from Emory Law School in 1953, graduating "With Distinction." When, in 1961, Ms. Smith became the first female attorney in the legal department of Southern Bell, she also became the first female attorney in any Bell System operating company. Ms. Smith is a member of the Georgia Bar Association and a former president of the Georgia Association of Women Lawyers. Active in the United Methodist Church, she has three times been a lay delegate to its North Georgia Annual Conference. Ms. Smith's grandmother and sister also are Wesleyan graduates.

Alumnae Weekend 1985

More than 400 alumnae took part in this year's alumnae weekend, which was filled with a variety of activities.

Friday's events included campus tours, the gathering of reunion classes and class parties. A picnic dinner at the lake was enhanced by beautiful weather and enlivened by the appearance of the Alumnae Washboard Band, including five of its original members from the class of 1957. They are Peggy Miller Nelson, Floreida Judge Harrell, Betty Brabston Ballard, Jimmie Copeland North and Reba Thurmond. After the dinner, Ellen Futral Peck '83, mezzo soprano, presented a recital in Porter Auditorium as part of the year-long recital series by five of Wesleyan's outstanding young music alumnae.

Saturday's activities included juice and coffee at the Bradley House, home of President and Mrs. Ackerman; the traditional alumnae brunch; the annual meeting; a post-meeting reception for award winners and graduating seniors; the alumnae-student soccer game; a Macon historical tour; the Golden Belles Dinner and reunion class parties.

The annual meeting was significant this year for the formal announcement of the Campaign for Advancement (see related article, p. 1. Also during the meeting, new members of the Alumnae Association Board of Managers were installed. They are: president-Ruth Austin Knox '75; president-elect-Gina Roberts Franklin '71; first vice-president-Glennda Kingry Gandy '65; second vice-president-Sally Ann Moffett McKenna '75; third vice-president-Jane Mulkey Green '42; fourth vice-president-Debbie Jones Smith '76; secretary-Sylvia Wylls Boone '60; treasurer-Karen Conn or Shockley '63. Other new members include Ann Hyer Smith '42, alumnae trustee, and Adriane Kelly Wood '72, member-at-large for alumnae weekend. Continuing as members of the board are alumnae trustees Sandra Bell Shipp '66 and Elizabeth Sorrells Styers '69; Mary Catherine Collins O'Kelly '72, who is member-at-large for nominations; and Laura Sullivan Barkley '68, the immediate past president.

Following the installation of officers, Frances Bruce Van Horn '53, director of alumnae affairs, was honored for her service to the alumnae and the College. Alice Domingos '40, assistant director of alumnae affairs, was cited for her service to Wesleyan on the occasion of her retirement. Outgoing Board of Managers president Laura Barkley received a gift of appreciation and, in a surprise presentation, Sallie Belle Roberts, former housemother for Wortham, Banks and Jones Residence Halls and assistant to the dean of students, was named an honorary alumna of the class of 1960. The mother of librarian Tena Roberts '60, Mrs. Roberts was so honored for her continuing support of Wesleyan throughout the years. Students Lynn Lasseter '87 of Quincy, Florida and Nisha Sapra '87 of Calcutta, India, received the alumnae scholarship awards for leadership.

Following campaign chairman Randolph Thrower's announcement of the Campaign for Advancement, former acting president J. Frederick Wilson gave a moving prologue to the candlelighting ceremony and the meeting ended with the traditional Benson Charge, singing of the Alma Mater and the candlelight recessional.

Alumnae Weekend 1985 concluded Sunday morning with a continental breakfast followed by a chapel service conducted by Dr. J. Frederick Wilson.

New officers of the Alumnae Association are installed by Sandi Bell Shipp '66, alumnae trustee.

Alumnae Week

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Flemmons Winders (Mary Jenkins Winders '35) are greeted at registration by student hostesses Lisa Morgan and Lisa Perry.

Student hostesses Vera Peters and Lynn Lasseter greet alumna Freda Kaplan Nadler '26 as she arrives at the dinner via the shuttle bus from the Loggia.

end Highlights

Alumnae Director Frances Bruce Van Horn '53 presents a gift of appreciation to the outgoing Board of Managers president, Laura Sullivan Barkley '68.

Tena Roberts '60 (l.) and Jackie Davis Richardson '60 (r.) congratulate Miss Robert's mother, Sallie Belle Roberts, on becoming an honorary alumna of the class of 1960.

Dr. Fletcher Anderson, Fine Arts Division chairman, directs a performance by the alumnae Wesleyannes during the Saturday afternoon reception for award recipients and graduating seniors.

Members of Class of '35

Twenty-six members of the class of 1935 celebrated their 50th anniversary reunion at the Golden Belles dinner held during Alumnae Weekend, 1985. They were joined by reunion class members who previously had celebrated their fiftieth reunion. Membership in the Golden Belles is automatic on reaching the fiftieth reunion year.

Joining the Golden Belles, their husbands and other family members were President and Mrs. Robert Ackerman, Frances Bruce Van Horn '53, Laura Sullivan Barkley '68, Betty Jo Hammock Boyes '48, Linda Anderson Bailey '71 and Rose Mary McKelvey '77.

Alice Domingos Retires

Alice Domingos '40, assistant director of alumnae affairs, retired April 30 after 44 years of service to Wesleyan College.

Alice poses with her sister Ann Maria Domingos '39 at the reception given in her honor by Dr. and Mrs. Ackerman.

SALUTE TO ALICE BURDEN DOMINGOS

When did Madame Sun Yat-sen attend Wesleyan? Ask Alice.
Where did the Purple Knights get their colors? Ask Alice.
Who was George I. Seney? Ask Alice.
Finding answers to any questions about Wesleyan has been easy for forty-four years. But we have heard that the day is coming when Alice doesn't live here anymore.

The lives of Wesleyan and the Domingos family have been intertwined since 1874 and the inauguration of President William C. Bass. In 1936, Wesleyan's Centennial year, Alice Burden Domingos began her personal association with the College. First as a student, then as Registrar for the Conservatory, as Director of Financial Aid, and as Assistant Director of Alumnae Affairs—for forty-nine years her presence has been felt on Wesleyan's campus. In all her responsibilities, she has exhibited the highest integrity; she has served as Wesleyan's conscience. Hers has been a special dignity that has enhanced and strengthened the College. Her care for detail and thoroughness in research have made her the zealous guardian of Wesleyan's collective memory.

All who really know her have discovered that behind the stately decorum there lurk a keen wit and a ready sense of humor. She is a courageous and strong-willed lady whose deep religious convictions have guided her work at Wesleyan and in her beloved Vineville Methodist Church.

We, the Faculty, say to Alice: "We acknowledge your retirement with deep regret. But we remind you that you may not resign as an alumna and we expect that the Domingos commitment to Wesleyan will continue unabated."

Adopted by the Faculty

Hungarian Alumna Returns

Former Wesleyan student Anna Makara Fagarasy of Papa, Hungary, was reunited with several classmates during a May visit to the United States. Highlights of her visit included a campus tour, an alumnae reception at the College, and an alumnae luncheon in Atlanta, all given in her honor.

Mrs. Fagarasy's U.S. visit was made possible by Blanche Duvall Smith '32 and Roberta Cason Cox '32, who were her hostesses. The Atlanta luncheon for Mrs. Fagarasy was co-hosted by Estelle King Collar '32 and Lois McDonald Jorgenson '32. Among those attending were Virginia Townsend Munford '32 of Jackson, Mississippi, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Cox and Dot Simmons Odel '32.

During Mrs. Fagarasy's residence at the college in 1929 and 1930, she studied history, literature, geography, philosophy and the Bible. Upon her return to Budapest, then her home, she studied linguistics, and completed her Master's degree at the university there.

During World War II political upheavals within her homeland ultimately forced Mrs. Fagarasy to take up residence in Papa where she has lived for the past 23 years. Her husband was lost during the first days of the war; sent, she believes, to a prison camp in Siberia after being wounded in action against Russia. Her two living children also are in Hungary and she is able to visit with them fairly often. She continues to tutor privately, which she has done much of her life.

This U.S. visit was her first since 1930.

Among the alumnae and friends attending the Wesleyan reception for Mrs. Fagarasy are Martha Moore Freeman '32, Mrs. Samuel Akers, Mrs. Fagarasy, Roberta Cason Cox '32, Blanche Duvall Smith '32 and Dot Simmons Odel '32.

NOMINATIONS FOR ALUMNAE DISTINGUISHED AWARDS

All of Wesleyan's graduates are outstanding. Many of these alumnae deserve special recognition. The passage of the new bylaws for the Alumnae Association defines the Awards specifically as Distinguished Achievement in a Profession, in the Community or in the Home. Service Awards may be Distinguished Service to Wesleyan College, to the Community, or to the Church. Please fill in this nomination form and send it to the Alumnae Office, Wesleyan College, Macon, Georgia 31297. Deadline for 1986 Awards is December 1, 1985. A biographical form for the nominee will be sent to the nominator.

The following tribute was sent by ALICE KATHERINE LANIER, '30, Statesboro, GA, in honor of MYRTLE REGINA SMITH, Statesboro, GA, who died February 18, 1985.

To know her was to love her. A lovely lady whose long life was the epitome of all the Christian principles for which Wesleyan stands.

'11 - Reunion in '86

KATHERINE SUDDATH STRIBLING, Habersham, GA, sends thanks to Wesleyan for her birthday greetings. "I have such pleasant memories of Wesleyan and Dupont Guerry who presided 1907-1908," she writes.

MINNIE LOUIS FLETCHER, Moultrie, GA, was featured in an article by Wesleyanne GRACE THOMPSON CRAWFORD, '47, Macon, GA in The Atlanta Constitution and The Atlanta Journal, and subsequently by the Associated Press, Cable News Network and various local and national media. After graduating from Wesleyan in 1911, Minnie Louis went to the Arts Students' League in New York and to the world's first school of medical art at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, MD, to study with world famous illustrator Max Brodel. Minnie Louis, probably the oldest living student of Brodel, may also be the first Georgian trained as a medical illustrator. She paid her college debts by painting portraits, including those of Governor Nathaniel E. Harris and Governor Joseph E. Terrell. Minnie Louis also helped pay her tuition at

Alumnae Admission Endorsement/Information Request

To be found below and on the next page is a dual-purpose form which may be used either by alumnae who wish to endorse a student applicant or who wish to request that admissions information be sent to daughters, granddaughters or other prospective students.

1. To endorse an applicant, complete the top portion of the form with your name, address, etc. The applicant should complete the rest of the form and supply a photograph. Because you have endorsed this application, the applicant's $15.00 fee will be waived.
2. To request that admissions information be mailed to a prospective student, complete your portion and items one, two and three only. The admissions office will mail information directly to the student.
3. Return form to admissions office (address on application).

Wesleyan College Application For Admission Alumna Endorsement

As a Wesleyan College Alumna I am very happy to endorse the application of this student. If she has not already applied for admission, my endorsement will automatically waive the necessity of her sending the regular fifteen dollar ($15.00) application fee.

PAULA SNELLING, Clayton, GA, had a stroke in 1979 and is totally disabled. She is now a resident at Ridgecrest Hospital in Clayton, GA. Though unable to attend her 65th reunion, she sends best regards to her classmates and expresses her affection for Wesleyan.

The late LINDA ANDERSON LANE, Macon, GA was honored last fall by the Macon Council on World Affairs. The 30th anniversary luncheon of the organization was dedicated to Mrs. Lane, a founding member. Sir Antony Part of London, and his wife, Lady Ella Part, long time friends of Mrs. Lane and her husband, the late McKibbin Lane, traveled from London to give the luncheon address.

The following newsnote from "K.T" THOMAS SMITH, Louisville, KY, did not make last spring's issue. (We apologize - Ed.) "Dear Girls!...how I would love to have been there! (at the reunion) My youngest "grand" will graduate this year at Duke; and I am going down for that, and bring back with me her mother (my daughter), Jane Clark, for a visit. Jane will be here for my 86th birthday, May 13. This photograph (taken at my 85th birthday) proves I've been a busy girl since 19...two daughters, a son, six grand children and a great grandson - four generations present! I do wish you would write me a note...Carry on kids and make whoopee for ole '19! Love and hugs, K.T"

Last March ELSA MANGET LOGAN, Churchville, NY, wrote to share her exciting news - "I leave tonight for a two week visit to China, the land of my birth and missionary service." Elsa also said that the class of 1920 produced two well-known writers (and friends): WILLIE SNOW ETHRIDGE and REBECCA CAUDILL AYARS.

'21 - Reunion in '86

Celestine Sibley, noted columnist for the Atlanta Constitution, wrote a column in January honoring the memory of ANITA WAGNER SUMNER, Mobile, AL, who died in January. She had been the teacher who introduced Mrs. Sibley to the newspaper world as sponsor for Mrs. Sibley's high school newspaper in Mobile. Mrs. Sumner inspired the staff to improve the standards of the paper, winning the Medalist Award of the Press Association. While a student at Wesleyan, Mrs. Sumner was editor of the school paper and a correspondent for the Atlanta Constitution.

'24

LUCIA SAMMONS GREEN, Orangeburg, SC, represented Wesleyan as a delegate for the recent presidential inauguration at Claflin College.

MARY MILLER, Brunswick, GA, received the Alfred W. Jones Award from the Brunswick Chamber of Commerce for distinguished service to the community.

Americus Chapter Chairman CORNELIA SHIVER arranged a luncheon for alumnae in the area to meet with Alumnae Director, FRANCES BRUCE VAN HORN, '53, and admissions Counselor ANN COOK, '82.

ELIZABETH WOODWARD BRADLEY, Greensboro, NC, represented Wesleyan at the inauguration of William H. Livine as the 16th president of Greensboro College, Greensboro, NC. She also writes that Atlanta Bishop Fitzgerald, Wesleyan trustee, was her pastor at Westmarket Methodist Church. She mentioned that the late LILLIAN JONES ELDRIDGE, '34, was Bishop Fitzgerald's secretary while he was writing his book, Diamonds Everywhere.

Mary Roba Jackson Wynn, class of 1931.

Master's in Chicago before returning to work for the YWCA in Shanghai. After marriage to a college professor and the arrival of five children, she taught in a high school. Her youngest child, deprived of a college education during the Cultural Revolution, is now in the U.S. to get his degree. His wife and daughter live with Tsou Yi. She now works with a group that is recording the intellectual and cultural background that was pushed aside during the Revolution. Tsou Yi had dinner with Suelle's tour group.

AGNES HIGHSMITH WARE, Dunnsville, VA, wrote thanking us for the Inaugural Issue of the Wesleyan College News and "caught us up" on her life since graduation. Her professional life has been with schools: The University of Georgia for a Masters, then Yale for an M.Div. She then went to Penn State. From there, she joined the dean's staff of Duke University. More recently she taught at Essex County High School and Rappahannock Community College. Her son Peter is a composer in Toronto, Canada. She hopes that classmates can one day hear a performance of some of his works. Agnes recently was honored for her work at Rappahannock Community College.

EUGENIA RAWLS SEAWELL, Denver, CO, has published a book of poetry, A Moment Ago, at the urging of her friend, Helen Hayes. The "lovely book of exquisite poetry," is illustrated by John Moll. Eugenia recently received rave reviews in the Honolulu Advertiser about her one-woman show, "Tallulah, A Memory."

Thanks go to RENA WINSLOW HARRIS, Cuthbert, GA, for her complimentary words about the last Wesleyan College News. She added a note of warning to fellow alumnae travelers going to Greece, "Don't drink the water!"

MARTHA ZACHRY THWAITE, Atlanta, GA, plans to visit Wesleyan soon. Her youngest son, Walter, is a junior at Mercer University.

"Love and best wishes to the class of '34, especially my roommates, EMMA STEPHENS WILSON, Washington, GA, and RUTH LANTZ COX, Atlanta, GA," writes CHARMIAN STUART THOMSON, Omaha, NE, who had to miss her 50th reunion this year.

Margaret Munroe Thrower sent us the following notes from the Golden Belles reunion:

The Fiftieth Reunion is now an event of the past. Those who came regret that anyone in the class of '35 missed the experience. Perhaps we were all at our best. For sure, not a "discouraging word was heard." We thought we needed a time to tell about ailments. Somehow no one seemed anxious to dwell upon anything but happy memories. Thanks to "JENKINS" AVIS MOATE BROWN, KATHERINE JORDAN STEWART, "BOOTS" BALDWIN ALEXANDER, IDA RENFROE GRIZZARD, DOROTHY TINSLEY DAILY for contacting alumnae. Twenty-six of the 74 alumnae on the list in the alumnae office were present. There were 49 in the graduating class. In addition, eight husbands attended. ELSIE LOWDEN HAMBRIGHT and husband Bill came to our class party at our invitation. They had as their house guests ADDIE FINCHER CROUCH, her husband and KATHLEEN CALLAHAN RHODES and her husband. MAE WHITE WALKER graciously consented to come with a friend to be judges for our "superlatives contest." The 1842 Inn was a pleasant setting for the party. Those attending: CHARLOTTE JOYNER AINSWORTH lives in Gwinnett County, said to be the fastest growing county in the country, with encroaching shopping centers and suburban housing changing her environment. Now a widow, she retired from teaching in the DeKalb County schools. Her daughter teaches English in the same system.

"BOOTS" BALDWIN ALEXANDER has retired from her work with the National Girl Scout Council. She drove over from Savannah with her sister, Mary, who also lives in Savannah, as do her two daughters. She wrote of the reunion, "Everybody was having a grand time and full of joy over seeing each other. The campus is really beautiful now. It is hard to believe what it was like in 1931 without the grass and shade trees, but that didn't bother me then."

LOUISE CALDWELL ARNALL is a retired businesswoman, having sold the soybean business she operated successfully after her husband died. She is interested in the restoration of Dunaway Gardens in Newnan.

VERNON KEOWN BLAND and CAROLYN MUNDY SHUMAN left their husbands behind and drove to Macon together. Each has a son who is a practicing physician.

JOSEPHINE REDWINE CARMICHAEL and JOSEPHINE SINGLETARY HINSON also arrived together. Josephine Hinson wrote, "And the melody lingers on—and so do the memories. What a truly lovely weekend it was! I'm certain no one went away disappointed. And that is quite an accomplishment when you consider how long and with what great expectations we all had been looking forward to this occasion. The Friday night party was such fun. Even though I must admit I didn't recognize all my Wesleyan classmates at first glance, once I knew who each one was, no one actually looked that different. I really can't understand why I didn't know everyone to begin with. After all, fifty years isn't that long—looking back that is."

LOUISE COOK arrived with wit intact. She and LOUISE CALDWELL ARNALL had come together. Louise Cook has retired from teaching at Decatur High School. She has a home in Highlands, NC where she spends the summers.

DOROTHY TINSLEY DAILY and her husband, Maurice, glowed with the realization of plans long anticipated. They have been faithful communicators during the years spent in Cuba, New York City, the Dominican Republic and Laredo, TX in the service of the Methodist Church.

JAMIE TYSON DODD with husband Grover, provided each in the class with badges of school girl photos and a bell. They also decorated the Manget dining room for the Golden Belles Banquet. It was good to see Jamie looking well after enduring all but one of a series of medical treatments.

Class of 1935.

MARY DOZIER has retired from teaching at Miller High School in Macon, GA. She maintains a continuing interest in her former students as well as her nieces and nephews.

IDA RENFROE GRIZZARD teaches music in Louisville, GA and has award-winning pupils.

BETTY STAYER HENDRYSON arrived in Atlanta on Thursday, spent the night with MARGARET MUNROE THROWER and husband Randolph. They drove down to Wesleyan together the next day. Fifty years had gone by and it didn't take 50 seconds to re-establish rapport. Betty is touring the southeast making her way via Savannah with "BOOTS" BALDWIN ALEXANDER; going on to Tampa to see her stepmother; then to the East to visit her daughter (a journalist who is married to the editor of the Boston Globe) and her doctor son; and to attend an intensive language school in preparation for travel in Europe before returning to New Mexico.

HAZEL TABOR KROL taught school for ten years, married and had six children in the following ten years.

ANNIE FRANCES CLOWER wore to the Golden Belles (renamed "Adorables" by Flem Winders) Banquet a becoming periwinkle blue gown prescribed by her color analyst. She wrote, "The reunion weekend was a great experience. I thoroughly enjoyed renewing dormant memories and old friendships. What fun to look back through the past and realize how the Wesleyan years have helped shape our many lives."

THALIA JOHNSON GOOCH and husband Stape told of their very small grandson being a ringbearer in a recent wedding. When the wedding was over he confided in his grandmother, "They didn't even use those rings,"—the rings he practiced carrying so faithfully and carefully!

MARTHA McCORD SLOCUMB and EL ANTHONY SOLOMON evidenced their interest by coming to all the events of the weekend which culminated in the chapel service, conducted by Dr. J. Frederick Wilson, in the Burden Parlor.

ANN PRINTUF SMITH arrived unexpectedly, bringing pictures of her new home and her family to show her classmates.

KATHERINE JORDAN STEWART
26/WESLEYAN COLLEGE NEWS

and her husband, Dr. Stewart, have spent many fruitful hours tending the Loggia garden. The funding was provided by gifts at the 45th reunion of the class of '35. These gifts were given in memory of those classmates who have died. The large burfordi has been groomed to tree form, allowing a vista beyond the retaining wall. Overgrown shrubbery in front of the parlor porch has been replaced. A brick wall has been laid to invite campus visitors to walk out under the holly tree and enjoy the scenery.

LOUISE PAGE WARD and her husband, Ed, have spent much of their lives in overseas assignments with the State Department. She sent snapshots and says of the reunion, "Great success! We loved staying at the Inn. The parties were terrific."

ELIZABETH WALKER PRESTON also attended. She now lives in Macon, GA.

MARY JENKINS WINDERS and husband, Flem, arrived well-equipped with camera, many wonderful scrapbooks, annuals and a keepsake of an "Adorabell" as a gift for each who attended. Flem says he has had to live all these years with Mary's assertion that the "four years at Wesleyan were the happiest years of her life."

News from others who responded: IRENE B. BREWER wrote, "Sure do hate to miss. Love to all."

AVIS MOATE BROWN'S mother is in failing health since her 100th birthday two years ago.

MARGARET CARPENTER sold her office supply business which was located in an old church where the Sunday school rooms were used as display rooms. Being very energetic, she devotes much of her time to managing the food services for the First Methodist Church in Marietta, GA, and loves doing it.

LOUISE MANGET CATE obtained her music degree at Oberlin after attending Wesleyan. At one time she was a music therapist with the Georgia Department of Mental Health.

ELIZABETH STEVENS COPELAND and second husband, John, now live in Atlanta. With her first husband she traveled widely in the interests of his peanut business in Dawson, GA.

FRANCES SEWARD CRISSEY lives happily in East Hampton, NY. She busies herself with the American Association of University Women, among other worthwhile ventures.

ANGELA ANDERSON CRISWELL wrote, "I know it would be just great to be there and to see everyone again—after 50 years, do you think anyone would know me? Tell them I am fatter and greyer but I still get the 'giggles' sometimes."

MARY SMITH JOHNSON and retired husband, Edgar, have sold their home and moved into a condominium on Peachtree Street (Atlanta, GA) where her sister also lives. Her daughter teaches at E. Rivers School and her son teaches at Gordon Jr. College in Barnesville, GA.

LOUISE LILES GLOVER and her husband had other commitments. She says his retirement has brought on increasing activity and demands!

CORN HUFFINE HADDLE and SALLY KELLEY RAWLINS tried to figure out how to come and still attend the festivities of Corn's granddaughter's wedding to be held the same weekend. Sadly for us it could not be.

SUSANNE WILSON HENDERSON was obliged to assist her elder sister with a move to a new location. She wrote, "Have a wonderful time together. I know it will be a memorable experience. I will be thinking of you."

CAROLYN MOATE PUTNAM could not get back to Georgia until later in the summer. We knew she attended in spirit. She has had a long, gallant recuperation period after an automobile accident.

HELEN SMART REWIS wrote, "I wish I could be with you for the class reunion but it isn't possible. I am still teaching and can't get away. But I will think of you all and relive our happy years together."

EULALIA MILLER THOMAS visits her sister in Atlanta and is often seen at the theatre and other cultural events.

MILDRED JACKSON VANN wrote, "Will you please tell all the ladies at the reunion that I will be unable to attend. My husband and I will have to keep two of our grandsons while my son and his wife go on an out-of-town business trip for the law firm of Alexander and Vann. I am so sorry to miss it."

HELEN OLLIFF WELDEN wrote, "50th Reunion! It seems almost yesterday we were descending upon Wesleyan, eager freshmen delighted to make our dreams come true of being part of the Wesleyan tradition. It was a great group to be a part of, the Wesleyan tradition. Perhaps one reason was that we knew how fortunate we were able to come in those uncertain times. I hope that each who returns in celebration will have a heart-warming time. Aren't we fortunate to be able to say, 'Fifty years ago I became a Wesleyanne!' Have a wonderful time!"

MARY L. DOZIER, Macon, GA, writes that it was great to see so many of her classmates at their 50th reunion - "many whom I hadn't seen since '35!"

MARY ELIZABETH VENABLE, Atlanta, GA, was honored by The First Presbyterian Church for her work and dedication toward founding the Food Pantry, named in her honor.

MARY JENKINS WINDERS, Kingsport, TN, writes her thanks to Wesleyan "for having us come back 'home' " for her 50th reunion - "Hail Wesleyan!"

Special thanks to THALIA JOHNSON GOOCH, Lake Wales, FL, for sending names of Lake Wales girls for admission to Wesleyan. Fellow alumnae, please send us prospective student names!

'36 - Reunion in '86 (Golden)

ROSE PENDERGRASS HILLYER, Springfield, NJ, really enjoyed her visits with FRANCES STODGHILL ATWATER, Cartersville, GA, and ALLEY PENDERGRASS COOK, Decatur, GA, while visiting Georgia last fall. All are anticipating that 50th reunion in 1986!

MARY ANN PEACOCK POWELL, Macon, GA, was given the Georgia Association of Museums annual Outstanding Patrons Award for her work at Jefferson Davis Memorial Park.

MYRL AYCOCK WOODS, Longview, TX, is justly proud of daughter Linda Maxey, concert marimba virtuoso with Columbia Artists. Linda has been an orchestral soloist with symphony orchestras throughout the U.S. and in France and Germany, receiving wide acclaim for her stunning performances.

'38

AZILE PARKER ALSTON, Atlanta, GA, and Royal Alden Sullivan were married at the Church of the Atone-ment on January 19, 1985.

'39

JEAN BELL GREAVES, Mobile, AL, writes that her sons, Tim and Mac, are both lawyers. Tim is married and has three girls, and Mac is married and has a son and daughter.

'40

ELEANORA MARSTON KENWORTHY, Philadelphia, PA, library director at Hahnemann Medical College was recently featured for her work as an information specialist by Hahnemann's news magazine Degrees & Stitches.

'41 - Reunion in '86 (45th)

Now director of the YMCA, EMILY COTTINGHAM STUART, Blacksburg, VA, would have loved to attend the reunion, but just couldn't leave her rewarding and exciting job at that time. Emily's husband teaches at Virginia Tech and her daughter, Mary Stuart, is director of Medicaid Policy for Maryland. Married with three children, Mary is working toward her Ph.D. Son Rob Stuart is a CPA in Baltimore.

EMILY CAMPBELL BROWN, Mansfield, OH, is proud of her two sons, Charles, recently elected Attorney General of West Virginia, and Sherrod, Ohio Secretary of State! This past year, Emily enjoyed a surprise visit from GINNY HATCHER TAYLOR, '41, Charleston, MS, and her husband Billy.

Working as librarian at a private school (K-12), ALICE BURROWES RITTER, Rochester, NY, loves her work "most of the time!" A highlight of her year includes an annual visit with Wesleyanne MARY STEWART BECKING SMITH, '42, to Signal Mountain, TN.

'44 - Reunion in '86

In Boone, NC, JONELL ROBINSON, director of Christian Education, is also a deaconess and deaconal minister in The United Methodist Church.

'45 - Reunion in '86

EFFIE THORNTON TAYLOR, Atlanta, GA, is working as a Child Support Recovery agent with the Georgia Department of Human Resources.

Thanks go to BETTYE MILTON PADEN, Hendersonville, NC, for her compliments of the magazine. Also congratulations to Bettye - Coventry Cathedral in England has bought her painting, Coventry Requiem, for its permanent collection!

ELEANOR HOYT DABNET, Atlanta, GA, and her husband, John, recently spent a weekend at the Padens home, and had a marvelous time "reminiscing!"

'46 - Reunion in '86

BECKY YATES ANDERS, Riverdale, GA, and husband Pat send greetings from their family's latest gathering, a fifth wedding in 2¼ years!

Jesse Haynes Pate Skene, son of LOUISE PATE SKENE, Macon, GA, was named one of the top 100 young scientists. He was especially noted for his work at Stanford University with the regeneration of axons.

'47 - Reunion in '86

This past February JO PATTERSON BETTOJA, Rome, Italy, was featured in the Atlanta Journal for her expertise of Italian cuisine. Jo operates the cooking school, Lo Scaldavivande, and has written Italian Cooking in the Grand Tradition. Jo claims she learned to cook from her husband, Angelo. She will have a cooking school at Wesleyan, April 2-4, 1986. Watch for the Alumnae Weekend mailing for details.

ELIZABETH LUNDY STERCHI, Athens, TN, informs us that husband Gordon is now vice-president for institutional development at Tennessee Wesleyan College.

GRACE "GRACIE" THOMPSON CRAWFORD, Macon, GA, a freelance feature writer for several newspapers, featured another Wesleyanne, artist and medical illustrator MINNIE LOUIS FLETCHER, '11, Moultrie, GA, (see class notes of 1911) in an article for The Atlanta Constitution and The Atlanta Journal. The article created quite a bit of interest with the national media and was picked up by the Associated Press and Cable News Network.

MARGARET WOODS BIRK, Tiburn, CA, had lunch with FRAN CALLAWAY McCOMMON, '47, while visiting the college and attended a cooking school in California taught by Wesleyanne JO PATTERSON BETTOJA, '47 of Rome, Italy.

'48 - Reunion in '86

While traveling in Mexico, LIZ HEAN STONE, New Cumberland, PA, visited JANE LEWIS MARIN-FOUCHER, '48. Liz's daughter, Lisa, is assistant manager of the Old Inn at St. Peter's, PA. Liz's son, recently

While visiting London, England, JEAN COWART FLOYD FLEMING, '48, Camilla, GA, ran into JANEY LEWIS MARIN-FOUCHER, Mexico City, MX and they enjoyed tea at the Ritz together!

VIRGINIA CALLAWAY BECKMAN, Valdosta, GA, is so very pleased that Wesleyan has reinstated the equestrian program, one of the major reasons she attended Wesleyan. ("My favorite horse was Peavine's Mary!")

BEVERLY BANKS BOLAND, Atlanta, Ga, had an exhibition of her most recent paintings in February, 1985 in Atlanta, GA.

MARY LANE EDWARDS CHEEK, Jacksonville, FL, newly married to David Hartshorn, writes that she would love to hear from classmates at their home in Jacksonville. Presently they are building a house at Fernandina Beach with hopes to travel a lot in the future.

A group of '49 Wesleyannes and friends of TUCK HAWKINS JONES, Atlanta, GA, gathered for a farewell luncheon in honor of Tuck and her husband, Dr. Bevel Jones, who is leaving Atlanta to go to Charlotte, NC, as Bishop in the United Methodist Church. Class of '49 friends attending: MARGARET DUCKWORTH SEWELL, NADINE CRANMER READ, CHARLOTTE LITTLE WALKER, EMILY MALLET JOHNSTON, BEVERLY BANKS BOLAND, JUDY CARREKER MATHIAS, ANNE STROZIER THREADGILL, JULIA WEATHERS WYNNE, MIMI ROADS GRIFFITH, MARION ALLISON WEBB, JERRY GRIFFETH SHORT, BETTY MACKAY ASBURY, LOUISE FOWLER GARTRELL and LOUISE FUTRELLE DODD.

RUBY LAYSON SEXTON, Frankfort, KY, is living on a farm with her husband, Frank, now a fraud investigator and hospital security director. Ruby is copy editor and book editor of the Lexington Herald Leader. Their two sons, Paul and Randy, live nearby.

"The reunion was great!" MIMI ROADS GRIFFITH, Athens, GA, added that it was "hard to believe it had been 35 years - we all agreed that we neither looked nor felt that old!"

Wesleyan Forms Elite Corps of Student Hostesses

During the 1984-85 school year, 18 Wesleyan students were unusually visible because of the bright red blazers they wore. This jacket is the emblem of Wesleyan's newly-founded corps of Student Hostesses, who were carefully selected to represent the College at all major functions.

Initially nominated by their classmates, the Hostess candidates were then screened and recommended for membership by the faculty and staff members who would use their services throughout the year.

Once selected, the Hostesses went immediately to work, participating in inaugural events, campus visitations by prospective students and other special guests, many receptions and Alumnae Weekend. They have been greeters, guides, reception-servers and have performed many other functions. As hostess Vera Peters said, "I love being a hostess because I've met so many new and interesting people."

Meeting people and representing the College are the Hostesses' primary responsibilities. When the applicants were considered last fall, their enthusiasm for Wesleyan was a factor in their selection. Leadership skills and scholarship were other criteria. Ten months later, the charter members of the Hostess Corps have proved themselves to be outstanding representatives of the College.

This fall, the Hostesses will elect officers and new hostesses will be selected to replace those who graduated in the spring.
